A ONE DAY APP INDO-GULF INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON THEME: EVOLVING GLOBAL TRENDS IN DRUG DESIGN AND DISCOVERY

Eleven students of the M.Pharm III Sem (Pharmaceutics) attended A One Day App Indo-Gulf International Conference On Theme: Evolving Global Trends In Drug Design And Discovery: The Role Of Sustainable Development And Multidisciplinary Approach (HYBRID MODE). The program was organised by ST.PAULS COLLEGE OF PHARMACY (Parmavridhi@5) in collaboration with Association of Pharmacy Professionals(APP). Students have participated and presented research articles in oral and poster presentations online mode on 13th February 2026. Dr. Kirani Mandava, principal of St. Paul's College of Pharmacy, emphasized the paradigm shift in drug discovery from trial-and-error to rational design aided by artificial intelligence (AI), biotechnology, nanotechnology, 3D printing, and quantum computing. The overall review of the conference proceedings underscores a forward-looking vision for pharmaceutical sciences driven by AI-enabled innovation, sustainability, multidisciplinary collaboration, and inclusive entrepreneurship.
