National Science Day 2026

National Science Day was celebrated on 28th February 2026 at G. Pulla Reddy College of Pharmacy with great enthusiasm and scientific spirit. The event aimed to promote scientific awareness and inspire young minds to explore the fascinating world of science, particularly in the field of pharmaceutical sciences. National Science Day is celebrated every year on 28th February to commemorate the discovery of the Raman Effect by the eminent Indian physicist Dr. C. V. Raman, for which he was awarded the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1930. This day serves as a tribute to his remarkable contribution to science and highlights the importance of scientific research in nation-building.

Students and faculty members of the institution demonstrated various experiments related to Biology and Pharmaceutical Sciences across different laboratories. Around 200 students from G. Pulla Reddy High School, visited and actively took part in the program. The visiting students interacted with faculty and college students and learned the fundamental principles behind experiments conducted in the departments of Pharmaceutics, Pharmacognosy, Pharmaceutical Microbiology, Pharmacology, Pharmaceutical Chemistry and Pharmaceutical Analysis.

The students showed great enthusiasm in observing practical demonstrations and understanding real-time pharmaceutical applications. The celebration of National Science Day through this pharmacy exhibition effectively promoted evidence based learning, encouraged innovation and enhanced career awareness in pharmaceutical sciences among school students. The interactive demonstrations and hands-on learning experiences inspired young minds to learn and pursue science with excitement. The program was coordinated by Dr. A. Lalitha Devi and Dr. V. Nagesh, Associate Professors.
